The purpose of this supplement is to provide you with information regarding upcoming changes to the FTSE4Good US Select Index (the “Index”), the index tracked by Vanguard FTSE Social Index Fund (the “Fund”).

On December 17, 2019, FTSE Group (“FTSE”) announced that it will revise the methodology for the Index to update the environmental, social, and governance (“ESG”) screens, and that the timing of the Index reviews will move from annually to quarterly. These changes will take effect as of the March 2020 Index review.

The updated ESG screens will continue to exclude stocks of companies that FTSE determines have a certain level of involvement with alcohol, adult entertainment, gambling, and tobacco (“Vice Screens”), weapons, nuclear power, and that FTSE determines do not meet certain standards relating to the environment, human rights, labor rights, and diversity (“Company Conduct Screens”).

The Index will continue to be a market-capitalization-weighted index of large- and mid-cap U.S. stocks that are screened on the basis of ESG criteria, and there will be no changes to the Fund’s expense ratio, investment objective, strategies, and policies as a result of the Index methodology change.

Additional Information on the Revised Index Methodology
The methodology change will result in the following primary updates to the ESG screens:

(i) FTSE will add a fossil fuels screen;
(ii) FTSE will add a screen for companies that do not meet certain anti-corruption criteria in accordance with the United Nations Global Compact Principles;
(iii) FTSE will modify the Vice Screens to primarily exclude producers, rather than, for example, producers, distributors or retailers, of various products; and
(iv) FTSE will evaluate companies under the Company Conduct Screens in accordance with the United Nations Global Compact Principles.

As it pertains to fossil fuels, the revised Index methodology will exclude stocks of companies that FTSE determines:

(i) own proved or probable reserves in coal, oil or gas; or
(ii) any company that FTSE determines has a primary business activity in:
   (a) the exploration for and drilling, production, refining and supply of oil and gas products,
   (b) the supply of equipment and services to oil fields and offshore platforms, such as drilling, exploration, seismic-information services and platform construction,
   (c) the operations of pipelines carrying oil, gas, or other forms of fuel,
   (d) integrated oil and gas companies, providing a combination of services listed in (a)-(c) above, including refining and marketing of oil and gas products, or
   (e) the exploration for or mining of coal.

Additional Information on the Revised Index Rebalance Schedule
Following the Index methodology change, the Index will no longer be rebalanced annually in December, and will instead be rebalanced quarterly in March, June, September, and December. FTSE will not rebalance the Index in December 2019 and will instead rebalance the Index with the first quarterly rebalance under the new Index methodology in March 2020.

In March 2020, Vanguard will update the Fund’s prospectus to reflect the Index methodology change and the change in the timing of the Index rebalance.

For additional details regarding the upcoming changes to the Index Methodology, please see the Index Resources available on FTSE’s website.

Example

The following example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund’s Admiral Shares with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. It illustrates the hypothetical expenses that you would incur over various periods if you were to invest $10,000 in the Fund’s shares. This example assumes that the shares provide a return of 5% each year and that total annual fund operating expenses remain as stated in the preceding table. You would incur these hypothetical expenses whether or not you were to redeem your investment at the end of the given period. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in more taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the previous expense example, reduce the Fund’s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund’s portfolio turnover rate was 11% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

The Fund employs an indexing investment approach designed to track the performance of the FTSE4Good US Select Index. The Index is composed of the stocks of companies that have been screened for certain environmental, social, and corporate governance (ESG) criteria by the Index sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard. The Index is market-capitalization-weighted and includes primarily large- and mid-cap U.S. stocks that have been screened for certain criteria related to the environment, human rights, health and safety, labor standards, and diversity. The Index excludes companies that FTSE determines are involved with weapons, tobacco, gambling, alcohol, adult entertainment, and nuclear power. The components of the Index are likely to change over time. The Fund attempts to replicate the Index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the stocks that make up the Index.
Principal Risks
An investment in the Fund could lose money over short or long periods of time. You should expect the Fund’s share price and total return to fluctuate within a wide range. The Fund is subject to the following risks, which could affect the Fund’s performance:

- Stock market risk, which is the chance that stock prices overall will decline. Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising prices and periods of falling prices. The Fund’s target index tracks a subset of the U.S. stock market, which could cause the Fund to perform differently from the overall stock market. In addition, large- and mid-cap stocks, such as those held by the Fund, each tend to go through cycles of doing better—or worse—than other segments of the stock market or the stock market in general. These periods have, in the past, lasted for as long as several years. Historically, mid-cap stocks have been more volatile in price than large-cap stocks. The stock prices of mid-size companies tend to experience greater volatility because, among other things, these companies tend to be more sensitive to changing economic conditions.

- ESG investing risk, which is the chance that stocks screened by the index sponsor for ESG criteria generally will underperform the stock market as a whole or that the particular stocks selected for the FTSE4Good US Select Index will, in the aggregate, trail returns of other mutual funds screened for ESG criteria. There are significant differences in interpretations of what it means for a company to meet ESG criteria. The index provider’s assessment of a company, based on the company’s level of involvement in a particular industry or the index provider’s own ESG criteria, may differ from that of other funds or of the advisor’s or an investor’s assessment of such company. As a result, the companies deemed eligible by the index provider may not reflect the beliefs and values of any particular investor and may not exhibit positive or favorable ESG characteristics. Additionally, the FTSE4Good US Select Index may, at times, become focused in stocks of a particular market sector, which would subject the Fund to proportionately higher exposure to the risks of that sector.

An investment in the Fund is not a deposit of a bank and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

Annual Total Returns
The following bar chart and table are intended to help you understand the risks of investing in the Fund. The Fund’s Admiral Shares have not been in operation long enough to report a full calendar-year returns. The information presented in the bar chart and table reflects the performance of the Fund’s Institutional Shares, which are offered through a separate prospectus. Performance of the Fund’s Admiral Shares would be substantially similar to that of the Institutional Shares because both share classes constitute an investment in the same portfolio of securities; therefore, their returns generally should differ only to the extent that the expenses of the two share classes differ. The bar chart shows how the performance of the Fund’s Institutional Shares has varied from one calendar year to another over the periods shown. The table shows how the average annual total returns of the Institutional Shares compare with those of the Fund’s target index and a comparative index, which have investment characteristics similar to those of the Fund. Keep in mind that the Fund’s past performance (before and after taxes) does not indicate how the Fund will perform in the future. Updated performance information is available on our website at vanguard.com/performance or by calling Vanguard toll-free at 800-662-7447.

During the periods shown in the bar chart, the highest return for a calendar quarter was 20.09% (quarter ended June 30, 2009), and the lowest return for a quarter was –13.16% (quarter ended September 30, 2011).

Actual after-tax returns depend on your tax situation and may differ from those shown in the preceding table. When after-tax returns are calculated, it is assumed that the shareholder was in the highest individual federal marginal income tax bracket at the time of each distribution of income or capital gains or upon redemption. State and local income taxes are not reflected in the calculations. Please note that after-tax returns are not relevant for a shareholder who holds fund shares in a tax-deferred account, such as an individual retirement account or a 401(k) plan. Also, figures captioned Return After Taxes on Distributions and Sale of Fund Shares may be higher than other figures for the same period if a capital loss occurs upon redemption and results in an assumed tax deduction for the shareholder.
